

July 19, 2018

Wildfire Recovery and Managing Grazing

Land Biological Indicators of Soil Health

Clinton, Oklahoma

Hosted by Cheyenne & Arapaho Tribe

Location: Training will begin at the Cheyenne & Arapaho Community Center, located at 2015 Dog Patch Road (E 1035 Road), in Clinton, OK 73601.

United States Department of Agriculture
Natural Resources Conservation Service

Pre-registration: 9:30 AM

Start Time: 10:00 AM

Free Lunch & Workshop

Topics

Soil Health Principles

Biological Factors

Managing Carbon

Nitrogen Ratio

Infiltration

Demonstration

Wildfire Recovery and
Managing Grazing

Importance of Ag Census
USDA Climate Hub

Conservation Client
Gateway

USDA Climate Hub
Update

Contact Information

Cheyenne & Arapaho

Tribes

Carol Crouch at

405-612-9331

Carol.crouch@ok.usda.gov

nhart@c-a-tribes.org

Agenda

9:30 AM – Pre-registration

10:00 AM – Welcome & Introductions

- Dr. Carol Crouch, NRCS
- Nathan Hart, Cheyenne & Arapaho Tribes

10:15 AM – Importance of Ag Census

- Troy Marshall

NRCS Conservation Client Gateway

- Dr. Carol Couch, NRCS

10:30 AM – Wildfire Recovery and Managing Grazing Land

- Steve Alspach, NRCS Soil Scientist

11:15 AM – Soil Health Principles & Demonstration

- Steve Alspach
- Greg Scott

11:45 AM – USDA Climate Hub

- Caitlin Rottler, USDA ARS

12:00 PM Lunch & Prayer

1:00 PM – Adjourn

Networking Opportunity