

Where We Shop

Sources of Seed, Tools & Supplies

Kerr Center's Cannon Horticulture Project

Organic market gardeners are often uncertain about where to find small-scale technology, organic and heirloom seed, and organically acceptable fertilizers and pesticides. Here are the local and mail order outlets we use. Businesses printed in bold face are sources frequently used. Others are sourced occasionally or simply checked for prices and availability of certain items. Contact information for businesses is provided in the back section. Please note that while we use many of the products and companies in this list, their mention should not be interpreted as an endorsement.
